Hei mua i te tononga Before you apply

Who can register a name change?

To register a name change in New Zealand:

- your birth must be registered in New Zealand, or
- if your birth is registered outside New Zealand, you must be a New Zealand citizen or entitled, under the Immigration Act 2009, to be in New Zealand indefinitely (for example, as a permanent resident).

Guidelines for your new name

Your new name must consist of one surname and one or more other names. If your religious or philosophical beliefs, or cultural traditions require you to only have one name, you will need to attach a letter of explanation.

The new name (or combination of names) may not be accepted for registration if it:

- might cause offence to a reasonable person
- is more than 70 characters long, including spaces, without adequate justification
- is, includes, or resembles an official title or rank (in which case attach a letter of explanation), or
- is not a name (for example, it must not include numbers or symbols).

Timeframe

To view our current timeframes for name change, go to: govt.nz/bdmtimeframes.

If you have requested a certificate showing your new name, allow extra time for postage.

If your application is not correct and complete, your application may be delayed.

True statements

If you make, or cause to be made, any false statement or declaration you will be liable, on conviction, to a fine or up to 5 years imprisonment, or both.

Requirements

You will need to:

1. Have all your guardians sign their consent on page 6 of this form.
2. Provide proof of your eligibility to register a name change in New Zealand (if your birth is registered outside New Zealand).
3. Provide a certified true copy of your current photo identification.
4. Provide proof of your use of your identity of the community.
5. Make a statutory declaration on pages 8–9 of this form.

Refer to pages 2–4 for further information about these requirements.

1. Guardian consent

What is a guardian?

A legal guardian is an adult who's responsible for the upbringing and care of a child. This is often both parents of the child. In some circumstances, it can be one parent or someone additional appointed by the Family Court.

You will need all of your guardians to sign this form to show consent to your application to change your name.

If you have only one guardian, or any additional guardians, your application will need to include a court document to show them being appointed. For one parent this is usually called a Sole Guardianship Order, or if you have more than two guardians, an Additional Guardianship Order.

In some circumstances a guardian may act alone if the other guardian(s) is/are dead, unknown, missing, of unsound mind or unable to act because of a medical condition. Note that a guardian is not missing if others know of their whereabouts, but they refuse to tell you.

What if my guardians do not consent?

You cannot change your name using this form if you do not have all your guardians' consent.

2. Your eligibility to register a name change in New Zealand

If your birth is registered in New Zealand, you do not need to provide proof of your eligibility to register a name change in New Zealand.

If your birth is registered outside New Zealand you must provide evidence of:

- the date and place of your birth, and
- your status as a New Zealand citizen or entitled, under the Immigration Act 2009, to be in New Zealand indefinitely (for example, as a permanent resident).

Provide a certified true copy of one (or combination if applicable) of the following documents:

- New Zealand citizenship certificate
- New Zealand passport (photo page only)
- New Zealand certificate of identity issued under the Passports Act 1992 with a letter/permit/visa from Immigration New Zealand confirming permanent resident status

- Australian passport or other evidence of Australian citizenship
- Cook Islands, Niue or Tokelau Birth Certificate
- Overseas passport including a resident permit or resident visa issued by Immigration New Zealand
- Letter from Immigration New Zealand confirming permanent residence status (only if the letter states your name, date of birth, place of birth and name(s) of parent(s))
- Overseas birth certificate together with a letter/permit/visa from Immigration New Zealand confirming permanent residence status
- Notarial certificate (China) that includes names of parent(s) together with a letter/permit/visa from Immigration New Zealand confirming permanent residence status
- Household/Family census register that includes names of parent(s) from an Asian country together with a letter/permit/visa from Immigration New Zealand confirming permanent residence status

3. Your current photo identification

You must provide a certified true copy of one of the following. It must include your photo. If you are providing a document that has your photo on it as proof of your eligibility to register a name change in New Zealand, this will also serve as your photo identification.

- New Zealand or overseas passport (photo page only)
- New Zealand or overseas school photo ID
- New Zealand or international driver licence (copy of front and back)
- Overseas identity card

A certified true copy is a photocopy that has been stamped or endorsed by an authorised person. For example, a solicitor/lawyer, notary public, registrar of the court or Justice of the Peace. This confirms that the copy is a true copy of the original document.

If you do not have photo identification, you will also need to fill out an Identity Referee Declaration form (BDM76) and attach it to this application. You can find this form at: govt.nz/name-change-adult.

You must present your current photo identification or completed BDM76 form (with attached photo) to the person authorised to take a statutory declaration when you sign the declaration in front of them. They can certify your document at the same time.

4. Proof of identity in the community

You must provide two documents from different sources. These do not need to be certified true copies.

For example:

- Student or tertiary identity card
- Educational certificate or school report
- Trade certificate
- Community Services Card
- Bank statements (including savings, credit or cheque accounts)
- Inland Revenue tax number (provide an IR card or statement)
